GEX ENGINE ENTERPRISES

End User Licence Agreement

Effective November 17, 2026 | Version 2026-11-17

This agreement explains the licence to use GEX Engine, Radar, KillZones, SMT and the related protected materials provided by GEX Engine Enterprises.

1. Your licence

During your paid access period or approved trial, we grant you a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable licence for one person's own research and educational use. The tools may be supplied through TradingView or another delivery method expressly identified in your order.

You receive permission to use the tools, not ownership, source code, resale rights or permission to supply access to others. Software and protected materials remain the property of their respective rights holders.

2. Account and access requirements

Use your own authorized accounts, keep credentials secure and provide accurate information needed for access. A compatible TradingView account is required for TradingView indicators. Your charting plan, market data and other third-party services may require separate purchases.

Follow the welcome instructions after checkout. Access requires verification of your membership and TradingView username. Do not provide passwords or browser session data. Your licence ends when your authorized access period ends, subject to the order, cancellation confirmation and applicable law.

3. Restrictions

Without written permission, you may not share or resell access, rent or sublicense the tools, distribute protected software or non-public source code, or supply a substitute subscription feed of our levels or alerts.

You may not bypass access controls, exploit trials or payment systems, scrape protected material for redistribution, or decompile or extract protected source code, except where applicable law expressly permits. Do not use the tools for fraud, harassment or unlawful conduct.

These restrictions do not prohibit honest reviews, lawful discussion or uses protected by law. They do not cancel separately approved creator, demonstration or affiliate permissions within their written scope.

4. Information, risk and service limits

The tools supply general market information and educational analysis. They are not personalized advice, brokerage services or account management. No signal, level, chart or example guarantees a price reaction, profit or future result.

You make your own trading and risk decisions. Trading can cause substantial losses, including more than the initial investment when leverage is used. Data and services can be delayed, inaccurate or unavailable. No uninterrupted or error-free service is promised, but applicable delivery obligations and mandatory remedies remain in place.

5. Changes and access restrictions

We may improve the software and make reasonable technical changes. Material changes to a purchased service or licence require notice and any consent required by law. Changes do not retrospectively remove existing purchase rights.

Access may be restricted where reasonably necessary for nonpayment, a material breach, fraud, security or legal reasons. Where appropriate, we will explain the issue and allow a reasonable opportunity to resolve it. Required refunds and other remedies are not removed by suspension or termination.

6. Related terms and contact

The Terms of Service and Refund Policy govern billing, cancellation and remedies. The Privacy Policy explains information handling. Mandatory consumer and payment-dispute rights remain unaffected. Ontario and applicable Canadian federal law govern, subject to mandatory protections and court rights where you live.

Seller: GEX Engine Enterprises. Contact: gexengineenterprises@gmail.com. Website: https://gexengine.co. This version applies to new orders accepting it from its effective date; earlier accepted versions are retained for earlier orders.